FULL OF CULTURE

Tito's Club

Tito's Goa is the most famous and popular nightlife place in Goa. Located at Tito's Lane in north Goa's Baga, this was one of the first discotheques to open in the state. Electrifying lights, loud rhythmic music, and a thundering dance floor... there is a party every day here in the tourist season. But on Saturday nights, the dance floor is on fire. Music and party lovers from all over the world come here to party. Tito's Goa is actually a courtyard comprising of an open-air restaurant, a concert space, and the nightclubs – Club Tito's, Bollywood Discotheque, and Café Mambo. Kamaki, which has also become very popular, is across the lane. Tito's Goa was established by Tito Henry De Souza in 1971, when the hippies were still in Goa, searching for spiritual salvation and nirvana. International tourists began to arrive in Goa, heard of Tito's and landed up here. The Indians followed. Now, Tito's Goa is a famous landmark in the state, not to be missed if you are a party lover.

AREA ATTRACTIONS

2. Beaches
3. Places of worship
4. Wildlife Sanctuaries
5. Other places of interest

An emerald fleck on India's Western coast, Goa is just a 50-minute flight from Mumbai, India's commercial capital. Golden beaches, blue skies, green hills, silvery sands fringed with palms – Goa is a magical blend of oriental and occidental baroque architecture set in a tropical landscape. Its charm lies in the fact that there is something for everyone. The following pages list a number of the most popular area attractions in Goa, as well as some lesser – known local favorites. There are many more things to see and do than could be listed here – be sure to inquire with our Guest Relations Manager for more information. In the room you will find maps, brochures, schedules and anything else you may need to explore Goa and the surrounding area. Enjoy your stay!

Mahadeva Temple (Tambdi Surla)

Deep in the forest inside the Bhagwan Mahavir National Park, you will find the oldest temple in Goa, dedicated to Lord Mahadeva at Tambdi Surla. It was built in the 12th-century and is the only monument left of Kadamba-Yadava architecture. It is not made of basalt, as originally believed, but of grey black talc chlorite schist soap stone. Its weather resistant property makes the handwork adorning the walls of the temple still seem fresh!

STEEPED IN HISTORY

Archaeological Sites and Forts

Guarding the mouth of the Mandovi River is the 17th century Fort Aguada. Built over a period of 8 years it provided water to ships anchored nearby. It is now used as the Central Civil Jail. The lighthouse which lies in close proximity offers spectacular views of the surrounding areas. The isolated and extremely beautiful Tiracol Fort is located on the north bank of the Tiracol River. Other places of historical interest are the Viceroy's Arch at Old Goa, the Idalcao Palace, previously housing the Secretariat and the statue of Abbe Faria, the mystic at Panaji and the Reis Magos Fort.

More Beaches

Goa is home to several famous beaches that draw visitors from all parts of the world. Calangute beach is just 16 kms from Panaji. The romantic Vagator beach lies beneath a hillock crowned by the Chapora fort. Just a half hour's drive from the hotel is Anjuna beach with its famous flea market on Wednesday.

Places of Worship

Temples: The largest and the most famous of Goan temples is Shantadurga dedicated to the goddess of peace. It is set in a picturesque forest clearing on a hillside. The 18th century Sri Mangueshi temple located amidst lush green hills with its lofty white tower at the entrance is one of Goa's most important landmarks. Another must see temple is the Chandreshwar Bhoothnath temple, which is just 15 kms from Margao in South Goa. This 400-year-old temple sits atop a towering hill with breath-taking panoramic views of the countryside and the coastline. Another famous temple is the Saptakoteshwar temple in the serene village of Naroa which can be reached by taking a ferry from the Divar Island near Old Goa.

Churches: Built of laterite and lime plaster, the churches in Goa are a Portuguese legacy. The styles of the renaissance and baroque are combined effectively to make each an architectural masterpiece.

Of these the most famous is the Basilica of Bom Jesus.

Built in the 16th century, dedicated to Infant Jesus this world renowned church is home to the sacred remains of St. Francis Xavier displayed in a rich silver casket. Other must see churches include the Se Cathedral, Chapel of St. Francis Xavier, and the Church of Our Lady of Rosary in Old Goa and the Church of the Holy Spirit in South Goa. Also the Immaculate Conception Church in the heart of Panjim City.

Built in 1565 when the Captain of the Rachol Fort razed an ancient Hindu temple to the ground, the church was in turn burned down by Muslim invaders. The present structure and the cross in the center of the square date back to the late 17th century when the Church was rebuilt.

Mosques: Safa Masjid, Goa's oldest mosque, lies about 2 kms west of Ponda on the main Panaji-Bangalore highway. Built by Goa's Muslim ruler Adil Shah in 1560 it was once surrounded by gardens and fountains. All that remains of the original complex is a white building—the prayer hall, which is still in use.

Wildlife Sanctuaries

Tired of the city hustle and bustle? Goa's wildlife sanctuaries offer fresh forest scented air, dense jungle, wildlife and lots of peace and quiet.

The Bondla Wildlife Sanctuary located in the lush foothills of the Western Ghats is Goa's smallest but most popular sanctuary. The main attraction here is the mini-zoo which houses bears, porcupines, deer, elephants, snakes, bison, leopards and lions. Next to the zoo are the botanical gardens where over 400 Goan and exotic plants are displayed.

The less frequented Cotigao Wildlife Sanctuary in the extreme southeast of Goa is home to about 200 different bird species.

EXPLORE THE UNKNOWN

The Bhagwan Mahavir Wildlife Sanctuary spread over 240sq. kms on Goa's eastern border is the largest and most spectacular of sanctuaries. The wildlife here is similar to other sanctuaries with one exception-black panthers which inhabit the higher ground. Bison is rampant with hyena, toddy cat, wild dogs, sloth bears and otters for company. Tigers and elephants wander in from neighbouring Karnataka.

The Salim Ali Bird Sanctuary in the lush green island of Chorao is a hit with birdwatchers. Resident birds include eagles, egrets, herons, kingfishers, kites, woodpeckers, myna, among others. During November and December, thousands of migratory birds including storks, sea gulls, teals and cormorants can be seen.

Other Places of Interest

Dudhsagar Waterfalls: The 309-mt-high 'Sea of Milk' on the eastern border is one of the most famous waterfalls in Goa and is most spectacular during the monsoons.

Mayem Lake: This Lake near the Narve village is an excellent picnic spot surrounded by green hills. The chief attraction here is the boating facility.

Old Goa: Just 10 kms east of Panaji lies the ancient city of Old Goa founded by Adil Shah in the 16th century and subsequently colonized by the Portuguese. It is dotted with majestic churches and imposing cathedrals and was often referred to as the "Rome of the East".

Naval Aviation Museum: This museum in Vasco is Asia's only such museum and displays aircraft that span the entire history of naval aviation in India. A major attraction is the Sea Harrier jump jet, which is currently in front-line service with the Indian Navy. Inside the building is showcased in the armament room naval memorabilia-vintage torpedoes and rockets all deployed in previous wars. Rare photos of Goa's liberation adorn the archival photography section.

Spice Plantations: Spices were the wealth that attracted the Portuguese and Goa still boasts of spice plantations occupying acres of land. See how pepper, tamarind, cardamom, cinnamon and other tropical spices are grown and buy little spice pouches to take back home from the plantation shop. The spice plantation is located in Ponda.

The villas are centrally located so the shops, beach, bank and supermarkets are all within walking distance. If you want to travel further afield there are many options for you to get around in Goa. Public transport largely consists of privately operated buses linking the major towns to rural areas.

Hired forms of transport include unmetered taxis and, in urban areas, auto-rickshaws. Other than buses, 'pilots' tend to be the cheapest mode of transport. You can also rent out a motorcycle and explore the many contrasts that Goa has to offer around every twist and turn.

-Hire Bikes - geared or non-geared 'per day' basis. The price range is Rs. 200 to Rs. 350 per day depending on the kind of bike. Geared bikes range from Rs. 400 to Rs. 1000 per day. Ensure you carry your driving licence and the driver must wear a helmet.

- Pilot Service - A popular mode of transportation in Goa is the motorcycle taxi, operated by drivers who are locally called 'pilots'. These vehicles transport a single pillion rider, at fares that are usually negotiated. Can be used for long or short distances, charges are about Rs. 15 to Rs. 20 (1 km or little more).

-Use the local Bus Service. Local private buses in Goa have a wide network even in the remotest areas. It is a cheaper mode of transport than others, they charge about Rs. 10 for 2 to 3 kilometers. There are bus stops everywhere & the names of the places they will stop at is written in the front side of the bus. There is also a state transport service called Kadamba Transport Corporation. These buses do not stop at all stops but only main cities, for example Mapusa to Panaji and Panaji to Margao.

-Auto rickshaws or Cabs/Taxis

The least cost effective way to travel is by private taxis or auto rickshaws - no meter system and you can be charged more.

Fix the price before travelling in the vehicle and let them know if they have to wait as waiting charged may apply. You can avail the pre-paid taxi service from the airport that follows a standard amount based on number of kilometers. Also available at some railway stations.

-Self-Drive Cars are also available

-Ferry River Crossings in Goa are serviced by flat-bottomed ferryboats. Crammed with people and vehicles, they go about their task in an unhurried manner. They are extremely reasonable and run from dawn till late in the evening. It's free for pedestrians and two wheelers and minimal charges are applicable to cars.

The ferry is a very convenient & cost effective way to travel in Goa but not available everywhere. Only a few locations in Goa have the ferry service from Betim to Panaji, Old Goa to Divar Island, Querim to Tiracol & Cavelossim to Assolna.

A taverna is a small cosy local bar that serves drinks. Culturally, people gather here in the evening after a long days work to gossip, talk about the seasonal crops and local weather. Villagers often jam, play music, sing, dance and enjoy local drinks such as a 'copito' of 'cashew feni' or 'urak'.
